CHANGES PLANS IN RESPECT FOR NATION SORROW

Death of President's Wife
Causes Sullivan to Cancel
Planned Events.

NO CONCERT OR SPEECH

Confines Himself to Informal Reception at the New Harper Hotel.

Roger C. Sullivan of Chicago, candidate for the democratic nomination for United States senator, did not deliver an address on the issues of the campaign in Spencer square last evening, as planned. Nor was there a band concert, as had been arranged for. When the sad news of the death of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of the president of the United States, was flashed over the wire, he promptly decided to cancel his speech and the band concert.

"I think it would be entirely out of harmony with the situation to hold a political rally this evening," he said in commenting on the matter. "The heart of this great nation goes out to the president in the hour of his sad bereavement and the sincere sympathy of all the people, regardless of party faith, is his. It surely would not be appropriate under the circumstances for a mass meeting to be attempted.

"The death of Mrs. Wilson is certainly a great shock to the people. It seems too bad that just at the time when the cares of state are pressing heavily on the chief executive of this country, he should be compelled to bear this great, personal sorrow, yet I know he is strong and brave enough to weather the crisis."

Party is Late.

Mr. Sullivan and his party were about an hour and a half late in arriving. He was held at Geneseo where a group of friends who were enroute to see him, had an auto mishap. Democrats of the county formed a motor party of about 30 machines and rode out to the Colona ferry, where the Chicago man was met and escorted to this city. A stop for an hour had been planned at the Manufacturers' hotel, Moline, but owing to the lateness but a few minutes was spent in the Plover City. The local autoists on the way out narrowly missed being "pinched" for speeding by the vigilant traffic officer, Patrick Carey.

Immediately upon the arrival of Mr. Sullivan at the New Harper news of the death of Mrs. Wilson was conveyed to him, and he called off his public address. Following supper he held an informal reception in the lobby of the hotel, where a large number of people, irrespective of party, called to see and shake hands with the much advertised Chicago man. Among the prominent men here, outside of representatives of the party in the county, were Justice George A. Cooke of the supreme court and Eli Dixon of Roseville, Warren county, candidate for the democratic nomination for congress.

Campaign Nears End.

This is the 12th week of Mr. Sullivan's tour of the state. He left here this morning for Milan, planning to visit Orion, Cambridge and Kewanee before taking the train to Chicago. He has traveled about 9,000 miles.

Next week he will visit the counties in the northern part of the state and complete his campaign. The rest of the time before the primary he will devote to Chicago and Cook county. With Mr. Sullivan was Frank J. Ford, private secretary.
